Jesu Ashram Reflection

By: Max Bethel

I was greatly inspired by the work that Jesu Ashram does. It made me feel a deep sense of religious community knowing that people spend their lives caring for others who need help without expecting anything in return. This is truly what it means to be Catholic, to know what needs to be done and to do it, because if you don't no one else will.

Learning about what Jesu Ashram is and what it does makes me want to work that much harder as a member of the student government to raise money for these incredibly generous people. Inspiration is a powerful thing, truly being inspired is something that only happens once in a blue moon, something that compels you to be your best self. I can only hope that I can become someone who can make such a big difference, it's a good thing I have my whole life to do so.

Living in Canada, we sometimes take for granted the things that we are lucky enough to have, especially free health care. Knowing that Jesu Ashram provides free healthcare, education, nourishment, and shelter made me experience a sense of relief. It made me acknowledge that although I'm just a kid, I can still make a difference, no matter how small.

I am so thankful that Fr. Peter and Fr. Julius gave their time to educate us on the importance of Jesu Ashram and its mission.
